Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally: Did you talk to Peter?
Vanessa: Yeah, he was getting ready for exams when I talked to him.
Sally: If I get a chance, I might give him a call.
Vanessa: Where are you now?
Sally: I'm in the Congo. The flight to Cairo is delayed for 5 hours! What will I do?
Vanessa: Why?
Sally: The weather forecast for today is rain, rain and more rain! Hey, you never told me about the rest of your evening with Marco.
Vanessa: Oh right, so, we made ice cream sandwiches with the cookies Marco made.
Sally: Right.
Vanessa: While I was taking them out of the fridge, Marco stumbled into me. Then, the sandwiches flew up into the air. The plate landed on the ground and broke.

Learning Points

The Simple Past & Past Continuous Tenses

You use the Past Continuous tense to talk about something that was or was not happening at a particular time in the past.

Affirmative form: subject + was/were + verb-ing

Negative form: subject + was/were + not + verb-ing

You can use the Past Continuous tense together with the Simple Past tense.

The Past Continuous talks about a longer 'background' action.

The Simple Past talks about a shorter event that happened in the middle of, or interrupted, the longer event.

You use the words when, while and as.

Examples:

- I wasn't sleeping when you called.
- While I was reading a book, I heard a noise.*
- As I was waiting at the airport, I listened to music.*

Talking About the Future

You use the Future tense (will) to talk about actions in the future.

You can also use the modals might and may to talk about possible actions in the future.

The auxiliary will goes before the verb. The short form is 'll.

You use the Future tense when you talk about the future, make offers or make predictions.

The modals might and may go before the verb.

They talk about future possibility or a chance that something will happen.

Might means there is a smaller chance that something will happen (30%).

May means there is a slightly greater chance that something will happen (50%).
